CAR PRINTS FAIL TO CHECK

Jack Fleagle did not have anything to do with the robbery of the Rodeo branch of the Bank of Pinalo and the fatal shooting of Constable Arthur McDonald. Neither did any known member of his notorious band have anything to do with the holdup and slaying.

Clarence Morrill, chief of the state bureau of criminal identification made this statement yesterday after an exhaustive comparison of finger prints found on the abandoned bandit car and the prints on file.

Capt. C. D. Lee, fingerprint expert of the Berkeley police department also stated that the fingerprints which he had examined were entirely different from any of those on file of alleged members of the Fleagle band.

Serious Setback
Although Morrill stated that he would continue to compare the fingerprints found on the car with the thousands on record, authorities admitted that it was a serious setback in their hunt for the bandit.

Since the robbery, based on identification of pictures by persons in the bank at the time of the holdup, Sheriff R. R. Veale of Contra Costa county has worked on the assumption that it was Fleagle and a member of his band that committed the crime.

The first setback to this theory came when Joe Miller, accused of the holdup by witnesses, gave himself up in San Diego and established an iron clad alibi that he could not have been in this section of the country on the day of the holdup.

Dacosta Out
Adam Dacosta, one of three bandits who robbed an Oakland bank recently, was yesterday eliminated as a possible suspect in the holdup. A wound on his arm which it was thought might link him to the holdup was self-inflicted while under arrest in the northern part of the state. It has been established by the police.

Another clue went aglimmering when the California Arms Co., who had sold the automatic rifle abandoned on the bank floor during the $27,800 holdup, stated that they did not have a record on file as to who purchased the firearm. They also stated that they did not know if the gun had been purchased in their San Francisco or Los Angeles store.

Conference Held
Daniel O'Connell, chief special agent of the Southern Pacific, W. C. Rutherford of the Railway Express and Police Chief Dan Cox of Richmond, have held several conferences with Sheriff Veale in mapping out the methods to be followed in the bandit hunt.

Railway detectives have joined in the hunt, believing that the same men who held up the Rodeo bank took part in the recent holdup of a Southern Pacific train near McAvoy.

In both cases the bandits escaped in a second-hand car and later were met by confederates, who whisked them away in high powered cars which left no clues in the hands of authorities.

Smoke Screen
Some authorities are of the opinion that neither Fleagle or any of his gang took any part in either the McAvoy or the Rodeo holdup and are successfully hiding under the smoke screen they have thrown up.

Fleagle is well known in this section of the country and could be easily identified by anyone acquainted with him. This leads some authorities to believe that he is in hiding in another section of the country or probably in some other nation. He is believed to be well financed as holdups in which he is alleged to have participated have netted over a million dollars.

MA KENNEDY SUIT OPENS

SEATTLE, WASH., Oct. 1 (UP)—The past life of the Rev. H. H. Clark, middle aged pastor, whose $50,000 breach of promise suit against Mrs. Minnie E. "Ma" Kennedy went to trial today, was made the subject of attack by defense counsel as the trial progressed rapidly through its opening stages.

John S. Robinson, attorney for Mrs. Kennedy, produced a document purporting to show that the Rev. Clark was arrested in Bakersfield, Calif., several years ago as a suspected "Peeping Tom."

Robinson said he was prepared to introduce records of the case, in which the minister figured prominently in a crusade against vice conditions.

Pastor Scored
Robinson concluded his address to the jury of eight women and four men by branding Clark as a "lawyer, crawling, criminal black-mailer." He recalled a number of incidents in the minister's past life which he termed "none too tranquil."

In a clear, audible voice, the Rev. Clark told from the witness stand many intimate details of his meetings with Mrs. Kennedy at several hotels.

Mrs. Kennedy arose from her chair while the minister was on the stand and took a position directly in front of him. Clark avoided her gaze and looked over her head when answering questions.

Courtroom Amused
While an amused courtroom listened attentively, Rev. Clark described his first meeting with Mrs. Kennedy at a theater.

"She put her arm on my side (Continued on Page 8)

TRIAL DELAY, PLEA DENIED A. PANTAGES

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 1 (UP)—Selection of a jury to try Alexander Pantages was started in superior court today after one or two charges accusing the millionaire theater man with attacking 17-year old Eunice Pringle had been dismissed.

The count dropped upon the motion of chief deputy district attorney Robert P. Stewart, alleged that Pantages had made of forcible assault on the young dancer.

Only a charge of statutory assault against a girl under 18 years old remains.

The defense made another futile attempt to obtain a continuance, pleading that the dismissal of the first charge had come as a surprise for which it was not prepared and that Pantages was in poor physical condition. Judge Charles Fricke denied both motions for delay.

Charge Dropped
With the forcible attack charge dropped, the defense will be unable to introduce evidence regarding the chastity of Miss Pringle and no testimony concerning her past will be permitted. It was said in explanation of the state's strategy.

A dramatic point came early in the questioning of prospective jurors when defense attorney Joe Ford asked Mrs. Olive Fletcher for her opinion concerning the lives of girls of the theatrical profession.

"Do you think that girls have to yield themselves to theater men in order to secure positions on the stage?" Ford asked bluntly.

"I have no opinion on that matter," Mrs. Fletcher replied. She was excused for cause when she said she had not formed an opinion concerning Pantages' guilt or innocence, but that "it looks bad."

Judge Fricke announced that not only the completed jury, but the incomplete jury pending final selection, would be locked up tonight.

GEORGIA IN GRIP OF STORM

ATLANTA, Oct. 1 (UP)—The tropical hurricane, now reduced to strong winds and heavy rain, moved northward upon Charleston, S. C., late today, leaving coastal Georgia deep in double trouble.

The path of the West Indian storms today brought severe winds to a section already combating the worst floods in many years.

The winds of the hurricane lost some of their destructive force in passage from Pensacola, Fla., eastward across the land, but the certainty of additional rain upon streams already outside their banks brought grave alarm.

Savannah had but one high-water to the outside today. The others were inundated by the Savannah river, already six feet higher than during the serious flood two years ago.

Flooded wells and reservoirs have added the typhoid menace to the situation. Dover, Ga., near Savannah, was under eight feet of water with the crest yet to come.

The hurricane appeared to be spending itself rapidly as it passed (Continued on Page 3)

ALL LOBBIES TO BE PROBED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1 (UP)—A general investigation of all lobbying activities here, including the now famous "social lobby" was authorized by the Senate late today without a dissenting vote.

The vote was taken shortly after a Senate naval subcommittee had adjourned temporarily, after two days of testimony.

William B. Shearer whose propaganda activities in the interest of shipbuilders at the Geneva naval conferences prompted the move for a general inquiry.

The resolution, by Senator Caraway, Dem., Ark., which the Senate passed, provides for a wide investigation by the judiciary committee, which includes such figures as Senators Borah of Idaho, Norris of Nebraska, and Walsh of Montana, famed as the Teapot Dome investigator.

BANK BANDIT TRIAL DELAYED

LAMAR, Colo., Oct. 1 (UP)—Opening of the trials of the three Lamar bank bandits was postponed late today until Thursday forenoon, when L. W. Cunningham suddenly withdrew as counsel for George J. Abshier and Howard Royston, who are to be the first to face the charge of murder, kidnapping and bank robbery.

Cunningham will continue to act as chief counsel for Ralph Fleagle, reputed leader of the gang which killed three bank officials and a physician in confounding the holdup of the First National bank here on May 23, 1928, and by whom he was originally employed.

Judge Hollenbeck appointed Byron T. Rogers, 29 year old attorney of Las Animas, Colo., to defend Royston and Abshier, who with Fleagle have pleaded guilty.

Final Rites Held For Slain Officer

Officialdom of Contra Costa county, yesterday paid final tribute to Constable Arthur McDonald of Pinalo at his funeral in the Richmond chapel of Wilson and Krutner. The eulogy was given by Rev. J. R. Rudkin of Pinalo, and was based upon a passage from the Apocrypha.

McDonald was killed by an unknown bandit in the recent Rodeo bank holdup, but his funeral was delayed until his daughter, Miss Ethel McDonald could arrive from the east.

Following the services, the funeral bier preceded by 60 police officers and followed by approximately 250 cars, bearing friends, relatives and associates, drove slowly through the streets of Richmond toward the Berkeley Crematory.

Side street traffic was held up for nearly half an hour due to the passing of the cortege.

In the chapel, the walls were literally covered with flowers, from his friends and police officers from the entire bay region. Practically every peace officer in Contra Costa county, and representatives from the bay cities police departments attended the funeral. In addition to these, many of "Jerry's" friends from all over Contra Costa county crowded the chapel to attend his last rites.

The following men, all of Pinalo and friends of McDonald for years acted as pall bearers: Henry Ellerhorst, Henry Von Dolan, T. W. Hutchinson, Jean Shea, John Ryan and Manuel Marcus. Mrs. C. Hughes, also of Pinalo, gave vocal selections.

Russ Plane Will Leave Sitka Today

SITKA, ALASKA, Oct. 1 (UP)—The final lap of the Russian monoplane Land of the Soviets, from Moscow to the United States will start from here at daybreak Wednesday, the pilot, Alexandrovich Shestakov, announced today.

Motors of the craft were tested today and Shestakov thought they would overcome a southeast gale which was sweeping this region. He said he would fly over the ocean to Seattle instead of going by way of the inland passage.

After reaching Seattle the four aviators will go to New York by way of San Francisco and Chicago.

It was learned today that the wireless operator of the plane either misunderstood his commander's instructions or became excited when the plane bumped on the water several times while flying low and sent out the distress call which caused anxiety Sunday. The "Land of Soviets" was enroute here from Sitka at the time.

Minister, Bandit Dual Life Revealed

LEMARS, Iowa, Oct. 1 (UP)—Still another real life manifestation of Charles Dickens' famous character, Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, was revealed here tonight when the body of Rex Froelke, college graduate, minister, and bank robber, was sent to his old home in Nebraska.

For years, Froelke had been a prosperous land owner here, had occupied a pulpit, and had operated a radio station.

He was arrested for questioning in connection with the robbery a few hours earlier of the Sioux Center state bank yesterday. When officers found the loot of a few hundred dollars in his home, he committed suicide.

Today he was identified as the robber who held up the Grange City, Iowa, National bank last summer and escaped with $13,500. Identification of his body was made by G. C. Barks, assistant cashier of the bank. The body of Froelke, who was 38 years old, was sent to Kearney, Neb.

The monthly meeting of the local Red Cross board of directors will also be held in the same place, under the supervision of Bert E. Scoble, chairman.

NATURAL GAS WAR OPENS IN STATE

While both officials of the Standard Oil company and the Pacific Gas and Electric company denied that the purchase of the Pacific Public Service company by the Standard Oil company meant a gas war, attorneys for the two organizations were firing the first broadsides in what promises to be a bitter strife between the two organizations for the privilege of serving Richmond and adjacent territory with natural gas from the Kettleman Hill district.

The battle between attorneys for the two organizations was staged in San Francisco yesterday before Commissioner Leon Whitsett of the State Railroad commission.

Cost Counties Gas company which serves a large portion of the northern portion of Contra Costa county is owned by the new organization which has been purchased by the Standard Oil company at a reported price of $26,801,327.

What Society Is Wearing

MRS. GUERNSEY CURRAN JR. DISPLAYS THE COLOR FOR A BELTED COAT.

Belted waistline effects are seen on all smartly gowned women. Mrs. Guernsey Curran Jr., walking on Park Avenue, wearing a cloth coat with a huge rolling fox collar, selects the narrow belt to define the waist line. Clever designing of intricate seams contributes to the flare so essential in fall modes. The accessories of her costume embody the newest demands of the hour, from the small hat turned back in the front, the black antelope pouch bag, the heavy gloves and the trim two-eyelet black kid shoes for walking shoes. The color weather brought forth many interesting novelties in autumnal modes, not the least important of which was the acceptance of increased width in all outside wraps.

TELEPHONE CO. TO INSTALL CABLE

Installation of a section of the second largest telephone cable in the world will take place shortly in Richmond by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company. The cable, which will measure one mile, will be laid underground along Macdonald avenue, between Twenty-third and Forty-third streets.

The cable holds 1200 pairs of wires, with a peak capacity of 120,000 words a minute. This will double the present 600-pair cable's capacity on Macdonald avenue.

According to George R. Calvert, district manager of the company, installation of the cable is necessary to serve the rapidly developing home district in eastern Richmond.

$27,000 Investment
Reaching a total investment of $27,000, three miles of aerial cable will be placed on other Richmond streets, in addition to the Macdonald avenue cable.

For residential service, ten and 50 pair cables are scheduled for Clinton avenue, Thirtieth, Thirty-fourth, Thirty-fifth, Fortieth and Forty-first streets. A 600 pair cable will be laid from Forty-third street to San Pablo avenue. On Market street, between the Santa Fe railroad and Twenty-third street, a 100 pair cable, more than a half mile long, will be placed and a 200 pair cable, 511 feet in length, will be placed on Pennsylvania avenue between Fifth and Seventh streets. These two lines will alleviate the present crowded conditions in northwestern Richmond, caused by the heavy growth in telephone business.

Manager Calvert, speaking of telephone cable history yesterday, said that 40 years ago, the largest cable had 50 pairs of wires carrying at peak capacity 5000 words a minute. Through the work of Bell telephone research laboratories, cables have increased in size 10 different times since then.

Same Size
Although the present cables are double and triple the capacity of those 25 years ago, they are no larger in size. Smaller gauge wire, thinner insulation, and different arrangement of wires are used, permitting more lines in the same space underground telephone subway. This reduces the amount of street digging, which would otherwise be necessary, due to the increase in telephones.

Richmond's total telephones have increased from 3200 in 1924 to 4600 at the present time, a growth of 40 percent in the last five years.

20 Periled On Sinking Tug

TAMPA, Fla., Oct. 1.—UP.—The coast guard cutter Tallapoosa tonight was en route from St. Petersburg at full speed to assist the tug Bafse which was reported in distress and sinking off Cedar Key.

Two barges in tow of the Bafse have been unheard of since they broke loose from the tug Saturday night.

A radio S. O. S. from the Bafse today reported the ship was sinking after drifting since the storm Saturday night, when a high compression piston was broken in the 80 mile rate.

The Bafse carried a crew of 20 men, five usually being stationed aboard each barge. Officers aboard the Tallapoosa were instructed to watch for the barges en route to the Bafse and all other coast guard stations along the Florida coast were notified of their disappearance.

Prize Winners At Whist Play

PARR ACCEPTS NEW WHARF UNIT

Acceptance of the south end of the Parr-Richmond terminal by the Parr-Richmond terminal corporation was announced yesterday by Fred D. Parr, head of the company, who said the move means the completion of the gigantic structure save for a few minor details.

Parr's directors will gather at noon today at the facility to hold the first meeting ever held by them in Richmond. They will be served with a buffet luncheon and after a talk by Parr sketching the history and the immediate future prospects of the terminal, they will inspect the property.

Parr said his company had now accepted the south end of the terminal from the contractors so far as the general work is concerned, and that the only remaining details are finishing touches on plumbing, the roof, wiring and the two connecting streets from Tenth.

J. P. Strom, chairman of the celebration committee, announced that his group will meet at noon today at Hotel Carquinez to go over the final details of the program and at today's gathering the

County Shriners To Attend Meet Of Modesto Group

Many Contra Costa Shriners will accompany Clare D. Horner of Richmond. Illustrations of the Shrine temple on his trip to Modesto Saturday.

Horner will be the principal speaker at the annual dinner of the Stanislaus county Shrine club at Modesto. G. M. Brut of Modesto will be master of ceremonies.

Arrangements for the trip are being made by Herman L. Enlehardt, chairman of Ashmead out of town committee. Shriners from Alameda, Oakland, Berkeley and all sections of the San Joaquin valley will be in attendance at the dinner, according to Horner.

A big party will be whipped into final shape and that the dedication celebration of Oct. 12 will be the biggest gathering of the kind ever held in Richmond.

Outstanding features will be a parade, fireworks, speaking program, dance, motion pictures and a yacht parade. The principal organizations of Richmond, including the Chamber of Commerce, the Business and Professional Women's club, the Motor Car Dealers' association and others are cooperating.

southern; to purchase natural gas from the P. G. and E. at San Juan and to distribute it through its own Wasonville system. Some weeks ago, before the Standard Oil gained control of the company, the two organizations were reported in agreement on the project.

Senator C. P. Cullen, attorney for the P. G. and E. stated at the hearing yesterday that his company would not oppose the request of Reginald Vaughn, attorney for the Coast Counties, to grant the granting of the permit would not be used in any way to support the Coast Counties application for construction of a natural gas pipeline from Kettleman Hills to Richmond and Contra Costa county.

Agreement Refused
Vaughn in refusing to agree to Cullen's request stated that his company would almost certainly use the fact as evidence that it is able to construct and operate the Contra Costa line if the San Juan, Wasonville permit was granted. Vaughn also announced that his company intended to battle to a finish for the Kettleman Hills, Richmond permit. Cullen then asserted that the P. G. and E. is "better able to transmit gas at a lower cost and with greater facility, to all areas now served by the Coast Counties company or to areas it proposes to serve. His company will vigorously oppose the granting of both permits," Cullen declared.

Partial Victory
The Coast company gained a partial victory however by a ruling that its application to serve Wasonville with natural gas will be heard Oct. 17.

Industrial leaders of Richmond and the San Francisco Bay region predict one of the greatest industrial developments of history for this region if the Standard Oil controlled corporation is permitted to bring natural gas to this community for consumption by industries.

The natural gas could be sold at such a low rate in this city that industries could compete favorably with industries located in the great coal belts of the east.

Fuel Cost
One of the handicaps of bringing large industries to this section has been the high cost of fuel according to industrial heads. With this handicap removed it is felt certain that many industries would be interested in locating here.

That a line will be constructed to bring natural gas to Richmond from Kettleman Hills for consumption by the Standard Oil plant here is certain, on the face of statements made several months ago. When the Coast Counties was denied a permit recently giving a virtual monopoly in the natural gas field to the P. G. and E. officials stated that a line would be built for an industry which would be a large consumer of the natural gas.

With the Standard Oil company and its almost unlimited resources as a backing, entering the utility field through the purchase of the Pacific Public Service company an interesting battle is predicted for the service of the large industrial area here with natural gas.

Surprise Potatoes

Choose large baking potatoes, cut in halves and hollow out enough of each potato to accommodate an average size link pork sausage. Precook the potatoes by steaming or baking until nearly tender. Place sausage in cavity and fit the halves of the potatoes together. They can be held together by inserting toothpicks. Finish in the oven. The oven may serve a dual purpose by serving a peach cobbler and toasted rolls.

RAINS, STORM HIT SOUTH STATES

sed over Union, S. C., at 3 p. m. today, but government meteorologists warned similar tropical storms have sometimes regained force on returning to the ocean after wasting land passage.

WOMAN KILLED BY POWER LINE

ACKSHEAR, Ga., Oct. 1.—UP—The tropical hurricane which at last reports had passed over southern Florida through Pensacola and east and north across Georgia without causing loss of life, exacted a death here today. Mrs. Louis Doubleday was burned fatally when the automobile she was driving struck high tension power lines blown down by the storm on the highway near here. Her two children, burned seriously, were rushed to hospital at Wavcross.

FLORIDA PREPARES FOR NEW GALE

DAYTON BEACH, Fla., Oct. 1.—UP—The barometer here fell to 29.60 late today and the weather bureau posted advisory warnings of winds of gale force here sometime tonight.

Merchants prepared for the worst. They hastily sought the same goods taken from wind-torn shops only yesterday after the tropical hurricane had passed northward up the Gulf of Mexico. Yachts and small craft in the harbors were returned to shelters. Wiggins approximating gale force. Damage caused by driving rains, uprooted small trees and shrubs here today.

There was no information as to whether the storm was a part hurricane or a subsequent gale.

County Legion Council Names New Officials

At a special meeting of the Contra Costa county council of the American Legion Monday night, R. E. Downing of Martinez was nominated for commander. Dr. Lowell R. Sears, commander-elect of Richmond post of the Legion was nominated for vice-commander, and C. L. Benedetti of Concord, was nominated for adjutant.

Election of officers and installation will occur at the same meeting in Brentwood on Oct. 17. Installing officer will be Area Commander James B. Burns of San Francisco.

A proposal to form a county council of American Legion auxiliaries was also endorsed at the meeting.

In conjunction with other newly elected officers, Dr. Sears will be installed as commander of the Richmond Post on Oct. 16. Department Chaplain Francis L. Albert of Goat Island Naval station, will act as installing officer.

Several Richmond Legionnaires attended the council meeting in Martinez among which were: Charles W. W. St. John, commander of the council; August Ritzenthaler, Fred Sletten, Dr. Lowell R. Sears, S. S. Ripley and John E. Smalley.

Teacher Escapes Death In Crash

Henry L. Harris, 216 Ripley avenue, a Richmond school teacher narrowly escaped death or serious injuries last night when the car in which he was riding turned over and was wrecked in an automobile collision.

The accident occurred at San Pablo avenue and Cutting boulevard. According to Traffic Officer Floyd Gilbert of El Cerrito, Harris' machine came to collision with a car driven by Carl Guerrero, 3231 Hanna street, as Harris backed out of a service station.

No one was injured.

Protect Your Furniture

A $1.25 to $14 Your Home of Moths May Save You Hundreds of Dollars.

MORTEMOTH KILLS MOTHS

The gas from Mortemoth crystals not only protects your furniture for a long time, but contact with it kills all moths, their eggs and their dangerous larvae in furniture which is already infested.

The proper method of using Mortemoth crystals is to tie them in small sacks, and to place these sacks down in the channel of the piece, as deeply as possible, behind the cushions, so that, upon expansion, the gas will spread and fill the spring units in the back and in the bottom of the piece.

When the sacks are empty, fill them again.

Intelligent Police Held Nation Need By August Vollmer

CHICAGO, Oct. 1.—UP—What this country needs most, outside of a good five cent cigar, are intelligent policemen in the opinion of Prof. August Vollmer, doctor of police at the University of Chicago.

And Professor Vollmer who gained fame a few years ago as the scientific chief of police of Berkeley, Calif., is going to do his best to see that the country is supplied with beat pounders, detectives, turnkeys and others varieties of sleuths all endowed with as much intelligence as possible.

In addition to the intelligence which as a prerequisite to entering Professor Vollmer's classroom on "police administration" at the university, when his students graduate and become entitled to wear a star they also will be entitled to a diploma engraved "Doctor of Police."

into Pitt's office. Pantages was in court with one of his sons, Lloyd. He said he was more concerned with the illness of his wife, Mrs. Lois Pantages, who has been in bad health since her conviction for manslaughter in the automobile crash death of Juro Rokamoto, than in the outcome of his own trial.

Selection of the jury is expected to require several days. Miss Pringle will not be required to be in court until she is called to repeat the story of the asserted attack, which she related at Pantages' preliminary hearing.

Miss Pringle has accused Pantages of assaulting her when she went into his office to seek looking on his theatrical circuit for the act in which she appeared as a dancer. Pantages holds the affair was a frameup.

of the seat and looked me over carefully," the minister said. Clark said they left the theater and then went for a stroll. Later, Clark testified, they went to another show, which he paid for, but Mrs. Kennedy gave him a dollar when they were seated.

Courtroom spectators chuckled frequently while the minister was testifying, and Judge Ronald rapped for order.

Clark's story, which is expected to form the basis of his suit against the mother of Albee Semple McPherson, went into each phase of Mrs. Kennedy's asserted refusal to marry him. The minister said Mrs. Kennedy had promised to start him on a missionary expedition and that her refusal to do so had disrupted his work as a minister.
